Bernd Wächter

is the Director of the Academic Cooperation Association (ACA). Bernd studied at the universities of Hull (UK), Giessen and Marburg (Germany). He has two children, and he is married to Thora Magnusdottir, a delightful lady from Iceland. Bernd's career has been focused on international higher education. He started his career at the University of Kassel (Germany), where he devised international degree programmes. After working for the British Council, he became the Director of international affairs at the Fachhochschule Darmstadt. In Germany's DAAD, he became the head of this organisation's European section. He subsequently was Director of Higher Education (Erasmus) in the Brussels Socrates Office. In 1998, he took up his post as the Director of ACA. Bernd has published widely on international higher education. He is the editor of the ACA Papers on International Cooperation in Higher Education.
