

International Staff Training Week

23 – 27 May 2016

at Technische Universität Dresden in Dresden, Germany

Technische Universität Dresden (TUD) is organising its second International Staff Training Week, and we would like to take the opportunity to invite you to this event. It aims to provide a platform for the exchange of knowledge, ideas and best practices regarding the internationalisation of institutions of higher education. There will be plenty of opportunity to network with colleagues from all over Europe, and we will be offering three specialist groups focusing on the following subjects:

- International Office: administrative services for academic exchange, mobility of students and university staff as well as integration of international incoming students
- European Project Center, Transfer Office, Project Scouts: administrative services for international research collaboration, knowledge and technology transfer
- Central Student Information and Counselling Service: how to give good counselling and support in the "student's life cycle"? Our variety of services for a variety of target groups.

Please refer to our website for detailed information about the programme and the registration process as well as everything around your stay in the beautiful City of Dresden.
